

Subtracting Background

Currently we do not subtract background, but manually flag spots that are obviously affected by it. We take this approach because background is not necessarily related to non-specific binding to spotted DNA, but often is due to non-specific binding to the slide coating. As an example, notice all the 'black holes' in this fairly poor quality slide.

